IN BRIEF

'IED made with intention of carrying out blasts'

NEW DELH Delhi Police Commissioner Rakesh Asthana on Friday said that the IEDs recovered from Old Seemapuri on Thursday and at the Ghazipur flower market last month were prepared and planted with the intention of "carrying out blasts at public places across the city". "We are trying to pre-empt every such incident in Delhi and expose any local or foreign network." the Police Commissioner added.

Scores of anganwadi centres in city shut as protest continues

Dry ration not distributed since the strike began 19 days ago, say beneficiaries

NIKHIL M BABU NEW DELHI

With scores of anganwadi workers and helpers sitting on an indefinite strike for the last 19 days, several anganwadi centres across the city remain shut, affecting public services.

All five centres in three different areas visited by The Hindu on Thursday were shut and posters outside some of them read that the workers were on strike.

Many of the women workers and helpers, who have been staging a protest near Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal's residence since January 31, said their centres too are shut since they launched the strike.

Workers under the banner of Delhi State Anganwadi Workers and Helpers' Union have been demanding higher wages, regularisation and retirement benefits. The president of the union, Shivani Kaul, said over 9,000 of the around 11,000 anganwadi centres in Delhi are shut.

"Every day 8,000-10,000 workers and helpers are protesting outside the Chief Minister's house," Ms. Kaul

One of the major benefits people receive from an anganwadi centre is dry ration for pregnant and lactating women and children below the age of six, who are yet to join school. This is distributed every 15 days and it has not happened since the strike began, according to officials and beneficiaries.

When contacted, a Delhi government spokesperson did not offer a comment.

N. Babu, 40, who lives close to the centre, said he has five-month-old twins and had got the dry ration from that centre last month.

"This month we have not received our packet of dry ration yet," Mr. Babu said, standing outside his house.

Showing the vaccination card of his twins, he said the anganwadi workers had helped him get vaccines for from government facilities.

"If we take these injections from a private hospital, it will cost us a lot of money. The anganwadi worker advised us and gave all the information and so far we have got all injections for the twins for free," Mr. Babu

Message on the door

A little away from there, centre number 89 was locked from outside and a handwritten message in Hindi stuck on the door read "I'm on strike", with names of the worker and helper employed at the centre mentioned below the message.

"My sister-in-law had got the ration last month but she hasn't got it this month," said Nirmala Devi, 54, who lives near the centre.

An anganwadi worker who lives in the area said all 19 centres in the area are shut since the protest began.

Two centres in Kotla Mubarakpur and another one close to the Nizamuddin Dargah were also closed on Thursday.

"All the anganwadi centres in the area are closed as the workers are on strike," said Mohammad Muktiyar, who runs a shop outside the centre in Nizamuddin.

Two children mowed down by pick-up van

STAFF REPORTER

Two children, aged four and seven, were killed when a pick-up van ran over them in south west Delhi's Sagarpur on Thursday morning, the police said, adding that the driver has been arrested.

DCP (South-West) Gaurav Sharma said that the victims have been identified as Subhan, 4, and Savitri, 7, both neighbours and residents of Subhan's father Kadar Ali said he runs an apparel shop close to his residence and Subhan was playing near a park outside the shop when the incident took place. "He and a girl from our neighbourhood were playing when a van reversed at high speed and hit them. The driver stopped and took them to the hospital but they didn't survive," he said.

"The man seemed drunk," Mr. Kadar said.

NEW DELHI To celebrate 200 years of Brazilian independence this year, the Embassy of Brazil is organising a series of events to showcase the country's contributions to the world.

The celebrations have begun with an exhibition of photographs by Leonardo Finotti of the works of landscape designer Roberto Burle Marx being displayed at the sprawling Sunder Nur-

The photos on display show how the landscapes designed are viewed from atop tall buildings that were being built in Brazil during his time, while the close ups shed light on how they were planned in a manner that looks like a forest but is actually a product of meticulous design.

Brazilian Ambassador to India Andre Aranha Correa do Lago said apart from the ongoing exhibition at Sunder Nursery, the other events planned to strengthen the ties with India during Brazil's 200th year of Independence include two more exhibitions - 'Building Brazil 1822-2022' at the India Habitat Centre and 'Brasília 60 Years+' at the National Gallery of Modern

"We want to showcase a modern Brazil and the contribution the country has made to the world. By organising such exhibitions, we want to reach out to the people in India and tell them about Brazil," Mr. Lago said.

A life in hiding after the riots

The mental duress of a protected witness who has no knowledge of the statement written in his name

HEMANI BHANDARI NEW DELHI

He wishes to maintain a sense of secrecy around him; he doesn't want people to know who he is meeting and why; and he creates a charade while going about his day-today life.

He is a 30-year-old protected witness (PW) in the conspiracy case of communal riots that broke out in the Capital in February 2020. A resident of north-east

Delhi, he is among the protected witnesses who was not produced before the magistrate for recording his statement but his 'statement to police' was attached in the chargesheet.

Speaking to The Hindu, the witness said the statement police have submitted is not his and he has not signed it either.

"About five-six months after the riots, I was called by the police for the first time and the officer asked me general questions about my life and nothing about the riots. The second time they asked me some unusual questions such as what variety of mangoes I like to eat; and during the conversation they kept my phone with them. During the third interaction, they took away my phone. The fourth time, they called me and enquired about my relationship with the people who were in my contact list, and those who were arrested in the case," he said.

Security personnel conduct a flag march after clashes erupted in north-east Delhi.

Next thing he knew, he was in the list of protected witnesses. "I was not informed by the police that I have been made a PW. I never signed any statement. I never appeared in the court. I never gave any statement in the first place," he said. The document police submitted in his name is a six/seven-page chronology of events which he read after it was submitted to the court, he added.

Flashback

Recalling the events that led to the riots, the 30-year-old said he was against the violence "from the beginning" and had even averted probable ruckus on four occasions starting mid-January 2020. "Outsiders had taken over the anti-CAA protests and they continued to say that we should do something big and we locals were always against it. I had stopped being an active part of the protests on January 22," said the witness, who was vocal against the ideas of some of those arrested in the conspiracy case.

Being a 'PW' has impacted him emotionally and mentally in the last two years. "Very few people know that I have been made a PW. Mostly, people have known me for vehemently opposing the violence. I have been labeled by both sides of the extremes the right and the left; Hindus and Muslims. Those who were my friends don't stand with me now and I am facing a boycott," he said.

On February 29, 2020, he apparently received a random call from a woman who accused him of being integral to the planned protests in north-east Delhi. "I got so worried after that and left my home for a few days and returned only when the frenzy subsided," he said.

"My parents remain worried. During the bail hearings there are instances when the arguments worry all of us and they keep offering prayers. I have been diagnosed with hypertension," he said, anxious about what is ahead of him when the case goes to trial. "The investigation is poor. I don't understand where I fit in the scheme of things".

Advocate Abdul Gaffar, who is defending several riots cases, said that writing statements for witnesses is routine for the police so that the chargesheet can sustain in the court of law or "what suits the prosecution", sometimes even with incorrect state-

Saudi Arabia keeps lid on oil output as US gas prices rise

Dubai, Feb 17: Saudi Arabia is signalling it isn't willing to pump more oil and won't push for changes to an agreement with Russia and other producers that has kept a lid on oil production levels.

This has Washington concerned as gasoline prices rise and tensions with Russia over Ukraine fuel market uncertainty.

The Biden administration dispatched Brett McGurk, the National Security Council's Middle East coordinator, and the State Department's energy envoy, Amos Hochstein, to Riyadh on Wednesday to talk about a range of issues chief among them the ongoing war in Yemen and global energy supplies.

Asked by reporters in Washington whether the US officials were also urging Saudi Arabia to pump more crude to alleviate high oil prices. White House press secretary Jen Psaki said she did not have more details on the meeting.

A White House official said the two US officials had not asked the Saudis to increase oil production at their meetings In Riyadh. The person insisted on an ony mity to discuss the meetings and said the conversation involved regional issues and energy security impacts on the global economy.

Two Saudi officials told The Associated Press the Saudi energy minister informed the Organisation of the Petroleum Exporting Countries, or OPEC, of the kingdom's commitment to the group's current readmap of cautions monthly increases. They spoke anonymously because they were not authorised to brief journalists.

King Salman also said as much in a call last week with President Joe Biden. According to a Saudi rendout of the call, the king highlighted the the importance of maintaining the agreement" that is in place between OPEC, the oil cartel led by Saudt, and Russta.

The Saudi and Russian-led alliance, known as OPEC+, calls for gradual increases to oil production as the world continues to emerge from the jandemic, but geopolitical events have been rapidly evolving and driving market volatility.
